2nd CALL FOR PAPERS

for
Vol-I, No. 2

Sonargaon University Journal (SUJ) is inviting academics, experts and practioners in different fields to send intellectual papers relating to gardening of knowledge for its 2nd publication of Vol-I, No. 2 by 25th January, 2017.

Articles are encouraged from fields including engineering, architecture, fashion design, basic sciences, business, management and law related areas. We are looking for this miscellany of perspective because inclusive academic development of the newly established university largely depends on an expansive grounds of knowledge. The journal will publish original and unpublished research papers, after being properly reviewed by the experts in the respective fields. Authors are encouraged to prescribe actions and measures that are suggestive, realistic and amenable to the sector (s) or issues they address. Thus, technical merit of an article is important, it is even more important that author(s) are able to communicate clearly with a variety of readers who may not have the technical aptitude to understand the obscure methodology of a particular field.

Both short and full-length articles may be submitted. Analysis of recent developments, short reviews of newly published books or research articles, and expert comments on specific issues will be treated as short communications, which should be limited to about 2,000 words. A full-length article should be prepared in 1.5 spacing with 10 points fonts (Times New Roman), double column on A4 size paper. Original manuscripts (in PDF file & Ms. Word) may be submitted electronically throughout the year to the following email address: journal@su.edu.bd.

Last date of submission for Vol-I; No. 2, 25th January, 2017.
